

OUR CANDLE RANGE

The basic unscented wax candle range that we sell at homeArama has been developed by Design Ideas in conjunction with the company Kameyama of Japan, the world's 2nd largest candle manufacturer and one of the highest quality candle manufacturers in the world, their mission statement being – in pursuit of excellence. They have perfected the art of matching the ideal wick quality, wick material and, most importantly, the wick diameter to the diameter and raw material of the candle. In doing so they have developed a very clean burning, dripless and odourless candle. It's a science to perfectly match the wick to the candle diameter and material. In addition to engineering the wick/candle diameters Kameyama has developed a wax formula (secret of course!) that produces excellent burn qualities earning the right to be the preferred candle lit inside religious temples. This exact same formula is used for our range BasicWax candles.

All our basic wax filled Tealights, Votives and the Candles in this range are gift packaged ensuring that not only are they a great gift but will arrive undamaged anywhere they are sent! In fact on the Candle range the lid and base of the pack are designed from flame resistant plastic so that you may burn your Candles upon them and thus protect the surface underneath.

Did you know...Candles are good for you?

Lit candles create negative ions in the air. Studies by Health Departments and Doctors worldwide show that negative ions have a myriad of positive health effects. Negative ions act as air purifiers by binding to dust, bacteria and particles, making them fall to the floor and out of the air. As generators of negative ions, candles can help you breathe easier, feel more relaxed and less tired, improve your mental focus and cheer depressed feelings. This range of candles is made of the highest quality unscented wax, ensuring that you get all the benefits of negative ions without potential allergic reactions to scent.
